This year's Chinese New Year celebration, held on Saturday, February 18 in Chatham Seafood Restaurant in New York City marked the launching of the first function under the banner of the newly formed Hong Kong Schools Alumni Alliance NYC. The Alliance was conceived and organized by the NY/East Coast chapter to foster greater friendship among alums from Hong Kong schools.

The enthusiastic response to the concept (See list of participating schools below) and attendance at the dinner of 175 participants, including 50 LaSallians and their family members, represents an auspicious start to more joint schools events in the coming year.

The evening began with welcoming remarks by Chapter president Simon Wai who announced that LSCOA NY/East Coast Chapter will be organizing a number of joint schools event this year, and he invited everyone to participate.

A scrumptious dinner followed with the highlight being the humongous Abalone Poon Choi which included abalone, sea cucumber, fish maw, black mushroom, dried scallop, and fish ball, followed by water fowl soup, lobster, flounder fillet, and finally, the obligatory chow farn and yi meen -- a meal that will be remembered for a long time to come.

The festive atmosphere was made even more exciting by the continuous raffle draw during dinner MC'ed by our very own La Sallian John Ng and Carl Leung of Wah Yan with seemingly endless prizes gifted by the Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office, New York, a consistent supporter of Hong Kong schools events, and different schools.

Animated conversations among old friends and new, and hearty laughter punctuated the entire evening. And everyone had so much fun they lingered on and left only when the restaurant gently hinted it was their closing time.

In short, a good time was had by all and everyone felt the joint schools format was a great success.
