Dear Lasallians,

Gong Xi FaCai! Wishing you and your family a prosperous Year of the Horse!

The Association had a very engaging first half of the term; a vast majority of the effort had been dedicated to the drafting of the Alumni Manager Election Procedure. An Electoral Committee, headed by the Hon. Secretary, Eric Chow (2000) was set up in October 2013 to design the election mechanism and the procedure. After many hours of research and meetings, the final draft is ready and is being reviewed by our legal advisors. The Committee intends to run the Alumni Manager Election in Q2, a formal notice will be published on www.lscoba.com and by post in due course, please stay tuned for it. I really have to declare I owe Eric one because Eric was, in fact, married in late 2013; he had spent many sleepless nights managing both his prenuptial tasks alongside with our electoral stuff over the months. Eric did not miss a beat and completed both jobs brilliantly! A very sincere thank you, Eric! Amanda, the new bride, welcome to the La Salle Family!

Another focus in November last year was the Interview Workshop for Form 6 students, a record of 40 dedicated Old Boys assisted in the ever-popular programme. I invite you to read the full article in the subsequent pages. For the first time, the OBA has offered a formal Fundamental Project Management Course to the Exco members of the Student Association of LSC. The course aimed to equip the young leaders with knowledge in business etiquette, soft skills, financial accounting, and project management fundamentals. We are hoping that the lads will exercise what they have learnt and apply the skills to better manage the SA projects; just to name a few, Talent Quest, Christmas Ball and the Lunar New Year Fair Stall.

On the LSCOBA souvenirs front, we have introduced some sizzling hot items this term, they are La Salle hoodies (@$280 / @$300), baseball tees (@$120), La Salle Mum tees ($120) and beach towel sets (@$200/set). Yes, for the first time in history, we have apparel for ladies! Baby pink hoodies, especially designed for our beloved wives and girlfriends; and tees for Mum. On the Family Fun Day that was held on 15 December alone, we have made close to $200k of sales, not to mention that most of the hoodies have sold out. The good news is that stock has been replenished. If you don't want to miss out again, please place your order now. Like in the past years, LSCOBA souvenirs will also be sold in the upcoming Year of the Horse Spring Dinner on 28 Feb.

For the sports lovers, the Division One Annual Interscholar Athletics Meet will be held on 20th (Day 1), 25th (Day 2) and 28th (Day 3) Feb at the Wan Chai Stadium. Again we will be fighting for the overall title harder than ever. I am not going to speculate which school stands a better chance, but I call for your full support to our athletes. Show your pride, put on the red La Salle hoodies and cheer for our home-grown athletes!

Once again, the Year of the Horse Spring Dinner will be held in the same evening of the Day 3 meeting, please make your table reservations as early as possible to avoid disappointment, strictly 50 tables maximum.

With great sadness, I have to inform you that our loyal and respected Past President, Maximo Cheng (1941), passed away peacefully on 21 Jan, he was 92 years of age. The OBA wishes to express our deepest condolences to the Cheng's family. Maxi will be dearly missed by the Lasallian community.

Yours in de La Salle,

On 16 November 2013, the 17th Kowloon (La Salle) Group held its Annual Investiture and presentation of awards and badges for Scouts of the LSPS and LSC in the school hall of the College. We had the honour of the presence of LSC Principal Rev. Brother Steve Hogan and LSPS Principal Mrs. Betty Ho. More than 300 Scouts, members of the Group Committee, Scout Leaders and parents attended the event. The fall-in of some 150 Scouts of all troops at the start was sharp and tidy, especially those new Cub Scouts from P.3. After the flag-up ceremony, a Grand Howl was given by our Cub Scouts to Mr. Raymond Lam, Deputy District Commissioner (Training) of Kowloon City District, Scout Association of Hong Kong. Words of encouragement to the Scouts and appreciation for the Scout Leaders were warmly expressed in the speeches delivered by the Principals and our Guest of Honour.

Mr. James Chiu, Chairman of the Group Committee, congratulated the new recruits, the Scouts on their promotion and the awardees on their achievements. He gave special credits to the parents, teachers and Old Boys who were invested as assistant Scout Leaders on the day. They served to reinforce extra momentum in training of Seventeeners. The Scout Leaders came from all walks of life with diversified experience in their own professions. Their strong commitment and volunteerism have shown that Scouting has become part of their lives. With strong support from the Group Committee and unfailing dedication from the Scout Leaders, it is envisaged that the Group would grow even stronger and that our Scouts will be more active in open competitions and eventually achieving higher successes thus gaining places in the Roll of Honour of the Scout Association of Hong Kong.

There were several highlights in this year's investiture. The "Gold Commendation for Sponsor" was presented by Mr. Lam to our Sponsoring Authority, La Salle College, in recognition of her unremitting support towards the scout movement of Hong Kong. Another memorable highlight was that Mr. Ng Siu Wing, our Group Scout Leader who, retiring after this academic year, shared with us his memorable moments throughout his scouting life with Seventeeners. Last but not the least, two of our alumni, Yu Po Qing (2012) and Yeung Yan Kit (2012) were awarded the Dragon Scout Award by the Scout Association of Hong Kong. The Dragon Scout Award is the highest progressive badge in teenager section. The award recipients have to attain extraordinary high standard in different aspects including activity, self-reliance, exploration and responsibility. In 2013, only 102 Venture Scouts in Hong Kong received this Dragon Scout Award.

HIGH COURT VISIT - OTHER LEARNING EXPERIENCE FOR LSC STUDENT

A visit to the High Court at Admiralty was organized by the OBA in the afternoon of 30 September 2013, for students who did not have to participate in the Swimming Gala on that day. The idea of this student activity came up during our Round Table Dinner with Deputy High Court Judge David Lok (1982) as our guest speaker in August 2013.

Twenty-two students gathered at the High Court at 2 pm to greet practising barristers Randy Shek (1988), David Fong (1988) and Vincent Lung (1998). We started with a video show of Hong Kong's judiciary system. After that, the three Old Boys talked and discussed with the students on some general legal aspects including the different job nature of solicitors and barristers, the difference between civil and criminal litigations, and the jury system. We then went to sit in two courts, each for about half an hour, to see real trials in action. The two hearings were both civil cases and we saw cross examination of witnesses. One case was about adverse possession of land by some residents in the rural area, and the other one was a commercial dispute involving a cigarette factory project in China. Both trials were conducted in English and interpreters were required for English/Cantonese and English/ Putonghua interpretation. A debriefing of these two cases by the Old Boys followed.

Subsequently we went to the court room of Judge David Lok who briefed us on his hearing of a civil case on that day and some of his interesting trials in the past. He shared his career experiences and how he became a magistrate after 5 years of barrister life. The students asked about the study path, the challenges and the career aspirations of the four Si-Hings. In the end, David encouraged the students to strengthen their language and communication skills (English, Chinese and also Putonghua), to be out-spoken, and to bear in mind that integrity is the most important element of a legal practitioner. On behalf of the School and the OBA, we would like to thank the four Old Boys for their effort and time contributed. It was certainly a very interesting and rewarding OLE activity for the boys.

Jointly organised by the OBA and the LSC Careers Guidance Team, this workshop was to help the Form 6 students to prepare for their university admission interviews which will take place after their DSE exams in a few months' time. In the afternoon of 30 November 2013, some forty Old Boys, both senior and young ones (also freshmen and undergraduates), came back to the College to help in this workshop.

Over 100 students participated in 10 mock group interviews of the following faculties: Architecture, Business & Finance, Engineering, Law, Science and Social Sciences. The medical faculty's workshop was held separately on another day by Dr Roger Wong. Students were asked to dress up as if they were attending the real interviews. Two or three senior Old Boys worked together as the interview panel. Resembling the real interviews, each student would do a self-introduction and they will then have a group discussion on a given topic. For example, the law panel asked the students to discuss the legal liabilities of various persons involved in an accident case, similar to the real interview of CUHK in 2013. To help the students in their self-introduction, we introduced an acronym "LSC" representing LOVE, SUITABILITY and CAPABILITY. Love - one should express his love and passion for the career and what his visions, inspirations, dreams and goals for his career life are. Suitability - to elaborate on his personality/interests/career orientation to demonstrate that he is suitable for the study/career. Capability - to highlight his strengths, skills, achievements in the school and in extracurricular activities which are relevant to his future study/career and where those capabilities would enable him to do well.

Students were advised to demonstrate a good attitude throughout the interview process, i.e. they should impress the interviewers by being highly motivated and prepared to get into the faculty and to become a professional, be it engineer, lawyer, teacher, or social worker, etc. A good attitude can be reflected in punctuality, dressing up properly, well-prepared self-introduction, communication with interviewers and in raising appropriate questions to the interviewers. The Old Boys assessed the students in terms of appearance and attire, sitting posture, verbal abilities, eye contact, and interaction skills. At the end of the interview, the Old Boys evaluated each student's performance and advised them how to perform better at the real interviews. We took videos for each student's self-introduction with their own phone cameras so that they could review their own performance. Students also took the opportunity to seek advice on selecting their majors and career paths. We are glad to know that they feel more confident after the workshop.

We would like to thank the following Old Boys for their effort in helping our younger brothers. We wish our boys every success in their DSE exams and interviews!

SHANGHAI CHAPTER GATHERING

The Shanghai Chapter is proud to host its first ever Christmas Party on 6 December 2013 with a "Back to School" theme. "I am excited to see a growing Old Boy community in Shanghai and a strong aspiration from our members for a form of entertainment that is different from the tradition," said Jim Yip (1987), the local chapter Convenor. "For the Chapter's first big social gathering we pulled together all the ingredients that Shanghai has to offer to make it an unforgettable night". If you happen to visit Shanghai in the week contact Jim at kinshingyip@gmail.com.

PROFESSIONAL NETWORK VISIT TO PACNET

On a hazy Saturday morning on 7 December 2013, 30 Old Boys and family gathered at Pacnet's no-signage headquarter building at 11 Chung Kwong Street in Tseung Kwan O for a brief introduction to the operations of Asia's leading independent telecommunications service provider. We were introduced to the submarine optical cable laying process and its business model. Fibres as thin as hair are carrying tera-bits of data at amazing speeds. The whole setup including racks and racks of computers, servers and switches, backed by several levels of redundant power supply in the data centre, communicates with the rest of the world via only 8 pieces of optical fibre, each about 0.5mm in diameter! It is interesting to note that 1A direct current at +1000V or -1000V is passed through the middle sheath of the optical cable to provide power for the intermediate repeaters, ie, amplifiers of the light signals. This copper conductor together with the mechanical protection of the outer sheath are what contributed to the bulk of the 100mm diameter submarine cable that we see!

LSCOBA - MCSFSA JOINT SCHOOL HAPPY HOUR

Having co-organized successful events in the past, the MCS Former Students Association (MCSFSA) and LSCOBA once again got together and organized a joint-association Happy Hour on Thursday 12 December 2013 at another new but difficult-to-find venue “Wyndham the 4th”, in Lan Kwai Fong, Central. After a busy week, it was a perfect time to relax with a complimentary glass of white-wine spritzer, canapies and a pint or two of chilled beer, to wind down a whole week of work and stress before everyone went away for the Christmas holidays!

OLD BOYS' TOYS

Welcome to the second edition of the Old Boys' Toys. In this edition, we are featuring Mr. Charles Chan (1977) and his love affair with wines. Charles is a Past President of our Association, a former Director of the La Salle Foundation and a School Manager of LSC, the current Vice Chairman of LSPS PTA and School Manager of LSPS. After graduation from LSC, Charles received a BSc and a MSc in Civil and Structural Engineering from the University of California, Berkeley. He founded and runs a manufacturing concern in the household decoration and building materials business.

Ray(R): When did you start drinking wine?

Charles(C): My first encounter with alcohol was when I was 7 or 8 years old. At a Chinese New Year gathering, my father was drinking brandy with his colleagues and they all seemed so blissful. So, I asked my father for a taste and ended up with quite a mouthful. I passed out on the sofa for a few hours and my mother was mad at my father for letting me drink alcohol, especially hard liquor like brandy at a tender age. Notwithstanding such a rough introduction, it sparked my conscientious love affair with wine later when I was studying in California.

R: How did you learn about wine making?

C: During my junior year at Berkeley, I worked as a waiter and bartender in restaurants during weekends. In order to impress the patrons and earn better tips, I started taking wine tasting and wine making classes in the university. The wine making course included an internship with a winery at the Napa valley. During the internship, I was really drawn into the art of wine making so much so that I decided to take a few months during the gap year between my BSc and MSc degrees to learn about wine making in France.

R: Can you tell us more about your adventure in France?

C: I went from chateau to chateau in the Bordeaux region, knocking on their doors to see if they would take me in as a day labourer. I was hired by a few chateaux that way. Although, they didn't pay me well financially, the jobs still came with good rewards as the chateau chefs usually cooked delicious traditional French meals for the workers and the managers would open wines from different vintages for us to taste.

R: What is your favorite wine?

C: After Château Haut Brion, one of my second favorites is Château Calon-Ségur. This is one of the chateaux I had worked in and the manager there told me the lesser known story behind the label. Many years ago, the original owners of Château Calon-Ségur (a Third Growth) and Chateau Lafite (a First Growth) were cousins but they had their differences and one side of the family left Lafite to start Calon-Ségur. Nonetheless, their hearts were and have always been with Lafite and hence the big red heart on the label, besides the better known and probably marketing slogan that they make wines with their hearts.

In the past 10 to 15 years, I have been drinking a lot more Burgundies for their complexity, divine bouquet and silky smooth finish or simply for the fact that Pinot Noir is such a difficult grape. Also, I often collect and drink vintages for sentimental attachment like milestone years in my life and birth year of love ones.

R: How do you pair your wines?

C: I usually follow, but with frequent deviations, the general practice of pairing reds with red meat and whites with white meat and seafood; and personally, I would recommend drinking Champagnes with Chinese food as the soy sauce used in Chinese cooking often obscures the taste of red wine while a crisp bubbly with good toasty and mineral notes compliments most Chinese dishes. After gourmet dinners, time and wife permitting, I would relax with a Cuban cigar over a glass of single malt Scotch. Talking about whiskies, some time back, I started a drinking fraternity with a few Lasallians called the Whisky Guzzlers with regular gatherings to sample whiskeys from all over the world. Interested Lasallians are welcome to join with certain conditions, one of which is to enjoy our "poison" with moderation.

R: Any suggestion for new wine connoisseurs?

C: Everybody knows that First Growth wines are better in many ways but their prices, especially in recent years, can be disproportionately high putting them out of reach for most. I would suggest new wine connoisseurs to follow their own taste rather than paying too much attention to the prestigious brand names. Go out and try different kinds of wine that suit your own budget. Be adventurous, sample different regions, Bordeaux vs Burgundy, Old World vs New World and various varieties, Carbernet Sauvignon vs Merlot vs Pinot Noir etc, you may well discover some less well known gems. After all, the best wine in the world is the bottle that tastes best to you, may it be a Lafite or one from Park'n Shop's rack!

FAMILY FUN DAY 2013

The School's Annual Family Fun Day was held on Sunday 15 December 2013. Students, teachers, parents, Old Boys and their families gathered together for a joyful day. The campus was filled with delicious homemade food, exciting game stalls and entertaining performances. The opening ceremony was highlighted by the dragon and lion dance performed by the SA excos to wish everyone good health and a prosperous year ahead. Parents and Old Boys also enjoyed shopping of OBA, PTA and SA products and we are glad to achieve record sales of 6 figures.

The OBA's Big Teeth game stall attracted long queues throughout the day. No one left our stall with empty hand and we gave away 500 prizes including top 10 prizes of remote-control vehicles and planes. We would like to thank Mr Paul Leung (Lung Cheong International Holdings Ltd) and Vincent Ma (1982) for their generous sponsorship of the gift items.

MUSIC TEAMS OF LA SALLE COLLEGE - PART 2 - THE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

La Salle College Symphony Orchestra is the first orchestra that was formed in La Salle. Traces of the Symphony Orchestra could be found in the campus several decades ago but it was unfortunate that such music tradition of La Salle faded away. At the start of the 21st century, the orchestra was once again re-organized under the advocacy of Brother Thomas. Under the baton of five different conductors throughout the past 13 years, the Symphony Orchestra has seen tremendous improvement. Apart from internal performances on Speech Day and Annual Concert, the orchestra actively participates in the Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows and the Hong Kong Schools Music Festival. Occasionally, some enthusiastic string players would join together to play as a string orchestra as well.

Recent Developments and Successes

The following table summarizes the recent achievements of the Symphony Orchestra in the two major annual school music competitions in Hong Kong.

2010	Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2010 - Symphony Orchestra Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2010 - String Orchestra	Gold Prize Gold Prize
2011	63rd Hong Kong Schools Music Festival - Symphony Orchestra (Senior) 63rd Hong Kong Schools Music Festival - String Orchestra (Intermediate) Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2011 - Symphony Orchestra	Third Third Gold Prize
2012	Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2012 - Symphony Orchestra	Gold Prize
2013	Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2013 - Symphony Orchestra Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2013 - String Orchestra	Gold Prize Gold Prize

The year 2010 - 2011 is a remarkable year for the Symphony Orchestra and the String Orchestra. In the Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2010, both orchestras were on stage without conductor, performing Mozart's Marriage of Figaro Overture and Divertimento in D major respectively. Finally, they both achieved Gold Prize and were highly appreciated by the adjudicators of their ensemble skills. Later in the 63rd Hong Kong Schools Music Festival, the symphony orchestra participated in the senior section under the baton of Mr. Yap Kit To. Stravinsky's Firebird Suite was definitely a great challenge. With the effort they paid, they conquered this and achieved third place with an honour.

In the following years, a vast expansion of the orchestra's repertoire was seen. The orchestra tried their best to learn a wide variety of pieces, ranging from symphonies from the classical period to show pieces in the modern era. Members of the orchestra have shown their passion and enthusiasm towards the music they play.

In the year 2013 - 2014, Mr. Kelvin Ngai Lung Sing took over the baton of the orchestra. Working with a new conductor, further improvement of the orchestra will be expected. In the latest Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2013, the orchestra performed Tchaikovsky's Symphony No.5 Finale wonderfully under the guidance of Mr. Ngai. In the upcoming Hong Kong Music Schools Festival, they are facing a new challenge of Prokofiev's Symphony No.1 'Classical Symphony' in the senior section of the symphony orchestra contest.

Words from the current team captain of the Symphony Orchestra Chan Yuk Kiu Jeremy (S. 5F):

"While our school's Symphony Orchestra was not re-organized too long ago, it has made a significant improvement which can be proved by the tremendous achievements in recent competitions. Now we are a group of enthusiastic young musicians who are competing with the top school orchestras in Hong Kong. I have been fortunate to experience the rapid development of the orchestra since Secondary 1, and I have truly learnt a lot from the captains and older brothers in the past four years. The older brothers have made enormous effort and contributions to take the Symphony Orchestra to another level. The improvement of the orchestra is not a miracle – but down to the brothers who made this dream possible along the years.

Playing in an orchestra differs from joining school clubs by giving participants a sense of belonging, providing them a memorable secondary school life, and of course, striving for glory for the school. We represent La Salle music, which now carries equivalent importance with La Salle sports. We are determined to continue striving for glory for our alma mater, and inspiring the younger brothers to enable this legend to continue."

The Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2013

The Hong Kong Youth Music Interflows 2013, organized by the Music Office of the Leisure and Cultural Services Department, marked the beginning of this year's music season. Contests of Chinese Orchestras, String Orchestras, Symphonic Bands, and Symphony Orchestras were held in November/December 2013.

It is the second time in La Salle history for our alma mater to capture the Grand Slam. Triumph of the boys in all four contests while successfully defending the Overall Champion title in the Symphonic Band Contest (Winners' Final is only set up in the Symphonic Band Contest) fulfilled this remarkable achievement that was first accomplished in 2010. We would like to congratulate all La Salle musicians once more and express our gratitude to all leaders and conductors for their valuable contribution towards the school. We also wish them the very best in the upcoming 66th Hong Kong Schools Music Festival which will be held in February/March 2014.

OBITUARY - ROBERT CHIANG (1952)

ROBERT CHIANG (Class of 1952), aged 81, died on Sunday 17 November 2013 at the Hong Kong Sanatorium and Hospital due to pancreatic cancer. He is survived by his wife, So Chi Ming; four children, Marina (Alan), Tony (Yen Yen), Daphne (Edward) and Leslie [Class of 1984] (Sandy); and six grandchildren, Sophiya, Madalaine, Benjamin, Douglas, Dominic and Jonathan. Mr Chiang was born in Shanghai in 1932 and came to Hong Kong in 1949. After graduating from La Salle College, he obtained his BSc (Engineering) Honour in 1957. Later he obtained his qualification as a Registered Structural Engineer and Authorized Person in 1960. In 1961, Mr Chiang established his own practice, Robert Chiang & Associates, to orchestrate some of the most prominent developments in Hong Kong, eg, Mei Foo Sun Chuen, Taikoo Shing, Hong Kong Parkview, Discovery Bay, Sheraton Hotel, Park Oasis, etc. Despite his heavy workload, Mr Chiang had also been appointed by the colonial government as Member of the Architect/Engineer Committee, Member of the Architect/Engineer Disciplinary Board, and Member of the Appeal Tribunal Board. But mostly Mr Chiang will be remembered as a Scholar, a Historian, a loving and caring husband and father. Funeral service took place on Sunday 30 November 2013 in St Mary's Church in Tai Hang, followed by mass, and burial ceremony at the Hong Kong Chinese Christian Churches Union Pokfulam Road Cemetery.

OBITUARY - FREDDIE NG TING FAT (2008) [22 FEB 1991 - 19 DEC 2013]

The Lasallian family has lost a unique member on 19 December 2013 after Freddie Ng Ting Fat lost his long battle with cancer. He is an incredible scholar, a brave warrior, and a great friend of ours. Ever since he was young, Freddie's retentive memory and observational skill were noticeable traits in the Ng's family. He was able to remember entire plots of movies which even his family could not grasp; he observed the little things and made comments on all of them. His family soon realized that Freddie is going to be as difficult to raise and tolerate as with any young genius.

Although Freddie's parents did not struggle with his study, as he was a very good student, his unquenchable thirst for learning and the lack of a matching playmate caused a lot of headache for them. Freddie's mother forced him to learn the piano with the sole purpose of teaching him to be calm himself. It was gradually taking effect. As a student of Ng Wah Catholic Primary School, Freddie ranked no. 1 from Primary 3 to 6; teachers there suggested that his parents apply to La Salle College (LSC) as his first choice in the Secondary School Places Allocation system. At the school entrance interview all the parents were well groomed and armed with heavy-duty binders packed with certificates and awards. This is in stark contrast to the free spirited Freddie's father wearing a pair of jeans, spotting long dyed-hair and holding only a thin folder showcasing his son's piano skills along with a few other achievements. They had no relatives who have studied in LSC before and neither Freddie nor his parents were then religious. But instead of being frightened Freddie was calm and his maturity emanated from within. His self-assurance and bountiful knowledge allowed him to perform his best in front of Brother Thomas. He was accepted into LSC. On the first day of school, Freddie's mushroom head hairstyle immediately left a strong impression. Being so used to be no. 1 and abruptly ridiculed on the first day, Freddie defended himself. His close friends found him opinionated and rude. Freddie's candid and defensive personalities prevented him from making friends. Noticing the problem, he sincerely asked a friend whether he was seen as amiable or not.

Gradually Freddie became more accepting to comments from others and was more open to group activities. Having no interest in sports, Freddie and a few friends did silly things together without a care of the world, they danced and sang on the football field during their physical education lessons; they had fun and great laughs and the bonding of the Table for Five (Marvin, Declan, Joe, Cypress and him) was established. These brotherly friends spent their lunchtime together, their study time together and their school break together. In their sleepover, the Table for Five learnt more about this friend Freddie. He was a veteran in video gaming. He took advanced Japanese studies in order not to miss the plot. He would buy the original soundtracks of the game so as to play them on the piano. Freddie however never forgot his duty as a student and would always carry his books with him to study. To this day Declan still could not believe how a person can separate studying and playing at a sleepover. The Table for Five were young; they hung out, they dined, they watched movies, and they went to Disneyland, Ocean Park, Japan and Macau together. It was this budding friendship brewed in La Salle that made it everlasting; it was bonding in its purest form.

The more outgoing Freddie began to participate in school functions like the LSC Open Day and the annual Talent Quest. But after F.5, Freddie was upset as he scored 29 in his HKCEE thereby missing out in the Early Admission Scheme. He was further saddened to know that the Table for Five was separating and heading aboard. His F.6 class teacher Ms. Chiang nominated him as class prefect with the support of the entire class. He was a responsible prefect, a diligent student and a helpful classmate. He ranked no. 1 in the whole form and was going to ace his AL exams. It was unfortunate at this time that he discovered a rare cancer – Sacorma – on his right arm during his F.7

year. With little progress in training of his left hand, he reluctantly quitted the AL exams to focus on the treatment of his right arm. His LSC teachers encouraged him to use his in-school performance along with his previous HKCEE results to apply for university entrance. The first time the Table for Five met up during the break after F.7 was a surprise to some because they were told the cancer news on the spot. "Cancer has changed Freddie's perspectives," his friends recalled. "He was more than willing to try new things. He wanted to cherish the time with his family and friends, and to spend his time even more efficiently than he already was."

Hamstrung by the rules, the Vice-Chancellor of the Chinese University of Hong Kong Dr. Joseph Sung regretfully rejected Freddie's request for entry into the department of pharmaceutical science. The University of Hong Kong (HKU) on the other hand arranged an emergency meeting to interview Freddie. Freddie practiced his interview with his friends many times. All three interviewers were impressed by this young man's determination, energy, and intellect. HKU created a special place for his admission with its own funding. Freddie spent his university life as fully as anyone who knew his own demise was imminent. He joined the departmental society, took part in all the functions, activities and organizations. He studied harder than before scoring the highest marks in almost every subject. If he was not studying, he would attend gatherings with his family, the Table for Five, and his old schoolmates and teachers. He continued speeding up his pace ...

With the three years of bachelor degree study finally behind him, Freddie spent the last few months of his life with his family and friends. The Table for Five gathered together as soon as they heard that their close friend had a cancer recurrence. They all knew that the Table for Five is losing a member soon. Every time they got together, however, Freddie would be smiling. Perhaps he knew every meeting could be their last or perhaps he did not want his friends to be saddened. In the last month of his life, Freddie attended his hard earned graduation ceremony taking away three of the four most prestigious awards from the HKU pharmaceutical science department. He was also awarded the John Swire Donor Scholarships in three consecutive years and had his tuition completely covered. As he received his testimonials the standing ovation enveloped the auditorium. There he was, the “brave cancer fighter who studied hard and won everyone’s heart” as reported on the front page of Apple Daily.

People recapped his life with deep and heavy feelings during his memorial gathering and funeral. The Table for Five was there saying their last goodbye to their friend as well. “You once asked me if you were amiable. Of course you were not, you were angry and rude. But you have changed, by a lot. To the people who clapped for you at your graduation, to the people who attended your memorial and funeral, and to the people who are touched by your story, you are amiable, you are so amiable.” Losing this friend is a fate we have to accept, but it is also a comfort to know that he is in peace now and that his story will inspire many others in the Lasallian family and in Hong Kong. “Freddie, you may have left us physically, but you will always be in our heart.”

CLASS OF 1963 - GOLDEN JUBILEE ANNIVERSARY REUNION

The class of 1963 celebrated its Golden Jubilee in October 2013. Preparation undertaken by a working group of 5 members headed by Leung Lit On started some 18 months in advance. The celebrations consisted of a series of activities including a visit to our alma mater and seafood dinner on 23 October. This was followed by a celebration dinner in Moon Koon Restaurant in Happy Valley on 25 October and concluded with a 3-day short trip to Hoi Ping and Yang Jiang in Guangdong. The reunion had the support of 47 classmates taking part in one or more activities with 18 returning from overseas. We extended a warm welcome to the latter appreciating the tremendous effort they made and their desire to be reunited at this memorable occasion.

On the first day of their encounter in the school, many classmates were overwhelmed with joy and laughter to see old faces we have missed for so many years. We were warmly welcomed by Bro. Steve who had been most thoughtful in arranging some students to be our guide in touring the school premises. The president of LSCOPA Willie Wong kindly spared time with us in the Old Boys' Room making sure we could purchase what we wanted for souvenirs. The celebration dinner was attended by 43 classmates, many with spouses. We had as our Guests of Honour Bro. Steve, principal of La Salle College, and Bro Lawrence and Mr Shum Mou Kee, both were teachers of our time. As a token of our appreciation for the quality education we received from La Salle we put together a donation of $200,000 to the La Salle Foundation. This was presented to Bro. Steve during the celebration dinner. On behalf of classmates Leung Lit On delivered a speech reminiscing the good old school days and how we all benefitted from the "harsh treatment" of the dutiful Brothers and teachers.

The 3-day short trip to Hoi Ping and Yang Jiang was well attended by 33 tour members, spouses included. This had provided valuable opportunities for the classmates and their spouses to catch up with each other and to renew and strengthen a long time relationship. As we parted we pledged that we would take good care of ourselves and all looked forward to our Diamond Jubilee reunion in 10 years' time.

CLASS OF 1978 - 35TH ANNIVERSARY REUNION

The 35th anniversary reunion dinner for the Class of 1978 was held on 14 December 2013 in the school hall of La Salle College. It was a night full of fun and laughter despite the heavy rain outside. Over 80 classmates and more than 20 teachers attended the event. We kicked off the event at 5 pm with group picture taking at the atrium on the ground floor, to take advantage of the sunlight and before the rain sets in. It was followed by an all inclusive cocktail reception with free flow of wine, beer and soft drinks. Buffet-style dinner was started at around 7 pm after speeches by Henry So, chairman of the organizing committee and Bro. Steve, principal of La Salle College. Our former teacher, Mr Henry Lau, said grace for us.

The night was filled with laughter and memories as the power point of pictures of our school days was played throughout the evening followed by quiz and games. An auction of a bottle of 1978 Bordeaux red wine was the highlight of the night and managed to fetch $16,800. All in all, we managed to raise over $200,000 for the school and it will be used towards a project to replace all the computers in the MMLC (Multimedia Learning Centre). Lastly, this Reunion will not be at all possible without the hard work and dedication of the organizing committee; as well as the generous support and participation of each class member. It was a true blessing that we can all come and meet each other after these many years. May we keep our friendship strong and our spirit high. Always prepare to be there for our families, for our school and for each other. For this is what true La Salle spirit should be!

Submitted by Henry So (1978) Chairman of Organizing Committee

Ninety-two 83ers, with twenty-five from overseas, gathered together to meet at our Alma Mater, La Salle College, 30 years since our graduation from F.5. After 30 years, we have all changed a "little" bit, we have lost some hair and short-term memory; we have gained some grey hair, some weight and some wrinkles. But what matters is our friendship, our old memories and most important of all, our Spirit, have not changed!

The celebration started with a Western dinner at the Twist in Sheung Wan on 29 Nov 2013, with 15 of us, drinking some serious alcohol - mostly vintage 1983. We were indeed boisterous and we hope that the restaurant owner, a former Maryknoller, did not mind. The next day 30 Nov 2013 was the day of our formal gathering. We started with a tour of La Salle College. Although the old school building where we had spent our F.1 life has since been demolished, we spent most of our memorable secondary education at the current building situated at 18 La Salle Road.

As the 83ers walked in from the main entrance on La Salle Road, one after the other, the noise of greeting our old classmates, with nick names plus some Chinese adjectives, just got louder and louder. With over 50 of us, we walked through the corridors where we had many years of laughter and tears. We had a perfect finish to the tour - we all left the school premises from the backdoor to Nga Tsin Wai Road, just as we did over 30 years ago when we left the school premises to have lunch in Kowloon City. Thanks to Gerald Chan for this brilliant suggestion!

The Finale Dinner was held at the Carrianna Chiu Chow Cuisine Restaurant at the Kowloon City Plaza. As expected, we didn't eat much. Much of the time was spent on taking photos, chitchating and catching up. We sang the School Song, not at the end of the dinner, but at the halfway mark, knowing that the dinner is not the end of the celebration. Thanks to Chris Chan and Andy Lee for organizing, thanks to Jimmy Yam for sending his assistant for the photography, thanks to George King for the video crew, and thanks to Caesar To for sponsoring the red wine. I hope the guys enjoyed the Moët Champagne and the background story on Madame Nicolle Moët de Brouillet, the mother of St. John Baptist de La Salle.

We continued with our celebration after dinner and some 30 of us moved to a nearby bar next to the Regal Oriental Hotel. We stayed outdoors, drinking wine and cold beer, and not even the cold weather could make us go home early! It was a memorable two-night reunion and until our next reunion in 2018, let's stay happy and, especially, healthy.

CLASS COORDINATORS' CORNER

As we will be launching the completely revamped www.lscoba.com website this year, we are taking the opportunity to introduce new functionalities for our members' benefit. One of the new features will be the class coordinators' corner. It will take the form of a subdirectory under the home page, eg, www.lscoba.com/1982 for use by the class of 1982. Content can be uploaded to announce five-year reunions, marriages and births, emigration and immigration movements, networking leads, happy hour gatherings, or just ad hoc yum-cha. Such announcements will be broadcasted by email to all members of the respective class. In the same vein, special interest groups may take advantage of the same functionality to promote their activities for Old Boys across the whole spectrum of graduating years. Such groups would include the like of St John Ambulance, Red Cross, Music Board, Legion of Mary, Air Cadet Corps, Interact Club, etc. An example would be www.lscoba.com/stjohn. The final step would be for overseas chapters to leverage the convenience of our global website in fostering fraternity and enhancing communication amongst their members, eg, www.lscoba.com/london. Therefore in the coming months I will be contacting the class coordinators and the active members of the special interest groups for their active participation in the above scheme. The ultimate aim of the exercise is to facilitate better communication in the Old Boys community via the internet.

喇沙書院新校舍佔地甚廣，建基非尋常社會觀。

Submitted by Heritage Subcommittee

校舍 二十年前，由前港督威廉姆·皮爾爵士(Sir William Peel)和教宗首次派來中國的代表塞爾·柯斯坦丁尼(H. E. Martini, S. J.)主持奠基典禮。當時九龍地區日漸繁榮，兄弟會(Bro. Albert)在尖沙咀所建立的初級學校，已不能容納逐漸增多的學生。因此，另建新校變成迫不容緩的急務。一九三一年十二月三日，建校工程大部完畢，原設於漆咸道的初級學校，便遷到界限街來，到次年一月六日，

建築 院長愛瑪修士(Bro. Aimer)的鑒劃策動，喇沙書院開始在界限街一塊十英畝

才正式開學。愛瑪修士以為校舍及各項設備足供今後廿五年內應用，實際上，到了一九三五年，學生日多，欲另增生物學及手藝等項新課程，已無課室可用。新校舍建築得非非常壯觀，有寬大的走廊和陽台；大禮堂是按照聖伯爾撒家制塔的模式設計的，可以容納一千二百人；聖堂精巧，祭壇莊嚴，可惜因為太小，到了一九四〇年，已不能容納全校三百到五百受洗的同學了。新校址有寬闊的運動場，除了一個足球場和兩個網球場外，尚有四個網球場，被

聲為全港最佳的硬地體育方面大放光彩。在一九三五年，喇沙同學參加畢業會考，成績極為優異，有七位同學獲得榮譽，其中有一位得到港大獎學金。在精神方面的收穫更是豐富，大批品學兼優的學生入教。一九三二至一九四一年間，學生及教師，領證書一八四八；一九四六至一九五三年間，有二三七八。一九三五年入教預修班成立，為入教的年青學生作準備工作的。兄弟會是一個全球性的組織，散佈在六十個國家，有二萬會員，教育了小學到大學的學生四十五萬人。

當第二次世界大戰在歐洲爆發之後，喇沙校舍連連被港府徵用，一九三九年九月初，喇沙便成了留港德人的拘留營。在喇沙路的旁邊，兄弟會有一小塊六萬六千方呎的土地，於是他們在那裏建起四間課室、一座有蓋的運動場。後來政府捐了四間臨時課室，又把有蓋的運動場分拆成四間課室，這樣湊足了十二間課室，學校分兩季開課。一九四一年初，被拘留的德國人漸漸少了下來，校方又搬回界限街的老校址。不過，大戰進行激烈，一九四一年十二月八日，喇沙又成後作輔助醫院及難民所之用。是月十二日，日軍佔領喇沙，駐紮一營日軍，並查問及調查各修士，所幸日軍對修士之待遇尚較寬容。一九四二年一月二十一日，各修士被迫遷出，喇沙一變而為日軍醫院，直到一九四五年九月英軍光復香港。毫無疑問，這一階段內遠東的教育情況是很悲慘的，我們現在仍深深感到這一段教育事業停頓，對青年人所起的不良好後果。

在廢墟中恢復起來。雖然經過一番整理工作，當時校中仍然缺少桌椅等具。但經修士兄弟們的努力和教育司的捐助，器材逐漸添備完善。因為戰爭的緣故，喇沙遭受了無窮的災難。感謝主，它的前途是無限的光明。當時，喇沙教職員陣亡非常緊迫。戰前教師們，有龍先生(C. M. Dragon)、林先生(Benedict Lin)、吳先生(James Ng)；新來者有袁先生(W. P. Yuen)及中國各大學的畢業生。他們的努力，使學校又重振起來。此後，校務漸次恢復，由於修士馬亨利(Henry)及馬理克(Richard)及羅克生(Francis X. Loo)的熱心，童子軍也建立起來。在這個時期，喇沙校友會也建立起來了，選出主席卡斯頓

Mr. E. M. Castro) 現任主席為范先生(Mr. K. S. Yan)。一九四七年九月八日，喇沙開校之時，分廿二班，共有九百學生。是年十二月廿二日，柏里克修士(Rev. Bro. Patrick)擔任校長。他以前在仰光辦教育四十年之久，成績卓著。他的智力及善心，使與他接觸過的每個人都嚮往他。年來，由於中共統治大陸，香港日漸繁榮。到一九四九年八月一日，港府增加香港防衛實力，喇沙的界限街校址，又再度徵作英軍的第三十三醫院。雖然喇沙經過了不少的變遷挫折，但是時至今日，它仍在本港英文書院中佔著一個崇高的地位。(本報記者高路)

CLASS OF 1964 - GOLDEN JUBILEE REUNION

ANNUAL MEDICINE LECTURE FOR LA SALLE COLLEGE MEDICAL ALUMNI

The 2013 LSC Annual Medicine Lecture was delivered by Dr. Roger Wong (1984), one of our esteemed La Salle Old Boy, on 8 December at 10 am, a beautiful Sunday morning, in the Senior Music Room in La Salle College.

Dr. Roger Wong is the Postgraduate Dean in the Faculty of Medicine at the University of British Columbia (UBC), Vancouver, Canada. He is a Clinical Professor of Geriatric Medicine and Head of the Geriatric Consultation Program, Vancouver General Hospital. Besides his medical work, he is also very enthusiastic in connecting with Lasallians, and helping them get prepared in the medical field. He held similar events previously, and they were keenly welcomed. His assistance for the juniors in Hong Kong extends from the time when they are trying to get into medical schools in the form of career guidance, to the time when they are in the two medical schools in Hong Kong, and even to the time when they have graduated as medical practitioners.

Around 70 Old Boys, medical students and practising doctors from fresh housemen to seasoned surgeons alike, came to the lecture. After warm reminiscences between Old Boys, everyone settled down and Dr. Roger Wong introduced the nature and rundown of the event, which would include demonstration of clinical skills and intense question and answer sessions on Case Scenarios. The School Principal, Bro. Steve Hogan, also greeted this gathering of future Lasallian doctors, and reiterated the importance of a close network of Old Boys in the medical field. The Old Boys applauded their speeches, and the lecture began.

The theme of the lecture was about evidence-based clinical skills and deductive reasoning in clinical medicine in a variety of medical scenarios. First, two medical students took a brief medical history from surrogate patients and performed focused physical examinations using their clinical skills. Their performances were outstanding, despite the observation by so many colleagues; and they were evaluated by Dr. Roger Wong. He also discussed with the Old Boys the exact procedures to elicit clinical signs, the indications of the clinical signs, and the associated research evidence.

Then four simulated case scenarios were put forth. Dr. Roger Wong quizzed the Old Boys on the clinical presentations, biochemical, hematological and radiological profiles, electrocardiogram interpretations, possible pathophysiology and differential diagnoses, and subsequent management, that is, from the time when the patients entered the clinical setting to the time of their treatments. The cases themselves are interesting, such as a case of acute pancreatitis leading to systemic complications in the lung. Dr. Roger Wong impeccably illustrated the essential points of the cases. The question and answer format of the lecture also allowed interaction and independent clinical reasoning.

The lecture was concluded at around 1 pm. It was a huge success and the participants learnt a lot. Many Old Boys would like to have these lectures again in the future and expressed sincere gratitude to Dr. Roger Wong.

CLASS OF 1974 - 40TH ANNIVERSARY REUNION

1974. Does it remind you of anything around Hong Kong and the World? The Hang Seng Index plunged and saw a record low of 500. Hong Kong's Governor was Sir Murray MacLehose. 1974 marked his 4th year in his tenure of 10 years, and the ICAC came into being. Barbara Streisand came up with The Way We Were, and John Denver had Sunshine On My Shoulder. On the big screen - James Bond was pitched against The Man with the Golden Gun, and Francis Ford Coppola scored with Godfather II. Those were the days ... but it all seemed like yesterday.

To some 200 plus young La Sallians who took the results of their HKCEE to turn a new page in their life paths, 1974 is a significant milestone to remember and celebrate. 2014 marks the 40th anniversary of those young La Sallians graduating from their Alma Mater. Today, they have all been groomed to be well qualified La Sallians with their careers built around a wide spectrum of industries and their footprints across the five continents. Each and every one of them has a good story to tell. 2014 is a year to get together and to pick up the bits and pieces along memory lane. Want to locate those guys who sat next to you? Forgot to say thanks to those guys who let you take a peep of their exam papers? Still want to punch the guy who didn't return your Playboy centrefolds?

A Reunion for the Class of 1974 is being planned to celebrate our 40th anniversary. The date is Friday 17 October 2014 and the Reunion will be in Hong Kong. While the programme details and the venue are still being worked out, this Reunion will hopefully be the most promising and the biggest ever with boys from home and abroad. Thanks to the LSCOBA for this space in the Newsletter, this is a global call to all of you who were in the Class of 1974. Mark that date and start planning your itineraries. If you are reading this (probably with your reading glasses on), modern technologies are leaving you no room for an excuse of not responding!

Those of us in Hong Kong are pretty close to each other, and we are also well connected with a group of overseas buddies. We have a good number well within our communication network and they have already been informed of the Reunion. But for those of you whom we have lost touch with, or maybe residing in some exotic places out of nowhere, we would love to have you back for this important event. If some of you happen to know any long-lost peers who might be hibernating somewhere, please also help to spread the word. This Reunion is ours to make, and it doesn't come easy. It takes forty years to have one!

So be there and let the La Sallian spirit fly high after forty odd years! Tell us you are coming to Hong Kong at lasalle.class1974@gmail.com. See you on 17 October 2014!
