 Old Boys' Association

Dear Lasallians,

Time flies as my second term soon comes to an end as the President of LSCOPA. I am nothing but thankful for the opportunities to serve the OBA members and fellow Lasallians. The primary objective of the Association is to promote brotherhood and fraternity while running under the principles that all projects are preferably self-sustaining with an operating surplus to support the Alma Mater, including student development. To serve our 8,000 OBA members, we have a dedicated group of 17 committee members, a part-time administrative manager, 22 subcommittees or task forces, as well as 9 active Overseas Chapters.

Before I go into concluding my journey of serving the members with the Committee, I would like to thank the contributors to this issue of the Newsletter: Mrs. Rakesh (LSPS Principal) and Mr. WS Tong (LSC Principal) for their updates of the Alma Mater; two senior old boys: Mr. Philip Chan (1964) and Mr. John Tsang (1968) who wrote about their stories in La Salle; and Mr. Alex Tsui, President of the Student Association of LSC, on his explanation of what he has learned from running the SA.

I hold a strong belief that communication is always the key to keep our fraternity growing and flourishing. The Facebook for the Old Boys' Ties, the website, monthly email notices, newsletters, annual reports, and various chat groups all serve to dispatch relevant news to members. The Class Coordinator Group in particular, has been an effective channel to get connected with old boys of over 50 graduation years from 1955 to 2017. Apart from sharing OBA news, the platform is also utilized to inform members of other Lasallian updates, such as recent activities pertaining to old boys, La Salle Primary School, La Salle College, or calling for support from the old boy community to any sports or cultural events of the students. With the enhanced publicity, our aim is to propel the cohesiveness and the level of involvement of old boys and stakeholders.

It is also important for OBA to create and bring value to its members, who will then see the benefits for joining the Association. Not only have we provided members with traditional events like the Annual Ball, Spring Dinner, Old Boys' concerts, Sports Leagues, Golf Tournaments, and Happy Hour gatherings, but we are also seeing strong support on new initiatives. With the dedication by the relevant parties, we have:

- 1) Created a members' benefit platform;
- 2) Revamped the credit card offers and souvenir online sales platform, including launching the best sales ever product "OBA Octopus card";
- 3) Relaunched the old boys' basketball league and Christian Brothers' Cup;
- 4) Jointly held community service events like movie viewings and the Pun Choi charity dinner;
- 5) Hosted round-table dinners as well as joint alumni activities like: finance talks and Hong Kong Christian Brothers' Schools events;
- 6) Organized photo competitions featuring Lasallian spirit; and
- 7) Been a part of the selection and presentation of the Distinguished Alumnus Awards to two of the most respectable old boys and past presidents of OBA at the Annual Ball.

At LSPS Diamond Jubilee Gala Dinner

Furthermore, we strengthened the OBA's service in support of class reunion dinner gatherings, onsite souvenirs sales counter set-ups, job shadowing, career workshops, and we formed a new professional networking group for architects.

I have been extremely honoured to be the 36th President of LSCOPA, going through a remarkable journey in the past two years. I have personally experienced a public campaign with participation by many enthusiastic old boys, regardless of the end result. I have spent a special year with La Salle by working closely on a few school projects with the new principals of the College and Primary School, respectively celebrating their 85th and 60th anniversaries. I also had the privilege to have been invited as the Guest of Honour for the 58th Speech Day of La Salle Primary School in 2016 and for the Annual Sports Day of La Salle College in 2017 as well as joining other Lasallian events in the capacity of OBA representative.

At LSCPTA Annual Dinner

I must give my heartfelt thanks to my Committee and the Administrative Manager, whom have been working together with me for two consecutive terms, pursuing our missions that were set. At the end of the day, we all have common values that we cheer together, fight together, and share the same tears and laughter no matter what we do or where we go. And most importantly, we all shed the same blood that we shall do whatever it takes to safeguard the best interests of our Alma Mater.

Thank you for your support in the last two years. I look forward to crossing paths with you at the next La Salle event soon.

Yours in de La Salle,

@LSCOBA Annual Ball 2016: Night of the Legends

I am delighted to have this opportunity to share with my Lasallian brothers a small slice of my personal memory of our beloved alma mater. It is amazing that even though we all went through similar growth paths attending this beloved institution, each one of us still manages to have unique stories to tell. It is always such a pleasure for me to revisit this little corner, a place where I keep my happiest and most valuable recollections that took place decades ago.

When I attended Primary School, it was headed by Brother Henry, the inaugural principal, who knew every one of the students by his first name, as well as his last name. Surprisingly, he also knew their performance in all the subjects. He was a kind, considerate and loving man who was not concerned about naughty behaviors and anything negative about the child. He focused instead on the positive attributes, healthy development and well-being of all his students. He also had an incredible memory, and I can attest to that.

I graduated from the Primary School and attended College across the street in the 1960s. I emigrated with my family to the United States in 1965 without completing Form II, and did not return to Hong Kong until 1982, some 18 years later. I went to see Brother Henry shortly after we have landed to show my respect on my return. He was still in the same office that he had when I was a Primary School student. We were always in awe of his presence, and that office was a sacred place that we suspected was full of secrets and mysteries. I had the same feelings some two decades later, and I was in a state of anticipation and trepidation waiting for my turn to see him outside the office.

I could not imagine that he would be able to remember much about me given the large number of students going through the grades over the years, and a little introduction would be in order. I thought that that would be a fair assumption because it had been a long time since I last saw him. I had become much older and taller than the time when I left the school. I had grown a mustache and I did not wear a school uniform. Brother Henry came out of the office at our scheduled time. He was much shorter in height and smaller in frame than I had remembered. Perhaps I had grown a bit and was more accustomed to the North American physique. His presence, however, still maintained that aura of will, strength and determination. I stood up quickly to greet him and to reintroduce myself with my well-rehearsed script. Before I could even open my mouth, he said, "Johnny, welcome back." I was instantly relieved, totally stunned, and hugely impressed. He seemed to remember me well, and from our subsequent conversation, he knew everything that I did since I graduated from the Primary School. How did he know? How did he remember? I shared my amazement with other Old Boys and many encountered similar experiences.

Brother Henry,
the Inaugural Principal of La Salle Primary School

The Primary School in the 1960s was much smaller than the modern campus that we have today. The school is still situated on the same site, but to me, the old school seemed a lot more spacious. Perhaps I was smaller then, and there were fewer built structures. We had no gym, no swimming pool, no computer room. We had a single building and a concrete surfaced football pitch, but more open space to roam, explore and run around. I used to look forward to going to school everyday, and was eager to get into that uniform of ours. I thought I was going to the center of the universe, and the uniform was the key to this wonderland. We were happy and we enjoyed all that we had.

We were content and we felt blessed.

The Monkey Frame

I actually cannot remember much about the classes and the academic aspects, but I do remember particularly the giant slide that we had on the far side of the football pitch. That was the tallest and most impressive structure that I had ever seen, then and now. It was also the smoothest glide that you can imagine. To increase the speed of the glide, we would 'lubricate' the surface of the slide with sand from the neighboring "monkey frame". The 'monkey frame' was a cubical structure made of steel tubings that formed smaller cubical spaces that was big enough to accommodate a child moving through it. We would climb and show off our gymnastic skills on the frame without any fear of falling because the frame was cushioned, we genuinely believed, with a bed of sand that lined the ground to soften any fall from the frame. We loved that slide and that ‘monkey frame’. We would spend the entire recess, our favorite period of the day, going up and down the slide as many times as physically possible and the length of the period would allow. We would also invent simple but innovative games on the ‘monkey frame’ to further dissipate our hyper physical states. It was just pure joy.

With the LSC Fencing Team back in 80s

Following graduation from the Primary School, I crossed the street to go to College. Daily routines remained pretty much the same, except everything just went up in scale and sophistication. Going to class by walking up the stairs from Prince Edward Road or trekking up from La Salle Road by stairs or by road was a decent hike everyday, but it was always an interesting journey. The vastness of the place, from the athletic field and the tennis courts to the assembly hall and classrooms, as well as the varied functional facilities, from the hallowed chapel and the mysterious quarters of the Brothers to the canteen and the library, never ceased to stimulate my imagination. I began to explore the niches and crevices of the compound with other classmates every chance we had, and it was an endless exercise of wonder and discovery.

I must admit that night time at the College was extremely scary. There were numerous occasions that I had to join performances and events that lasted until late evening time. Wandering in along with many others with the lights on was rather delightful and pleasant, but leaving, often alone by myself, in total darkness was hugely frightening. We have already heard many tall tales that gave us sleepless nights, and the multiple corners, creepy shadows and the many twists and turns were rich ingredients for the most frightening horror episodes. I used to amaze myself to discover how fast I could run out of the campus onto the street.

My tenure at the College was a short one. There was little else that I could remember except for my less than sterling grades, and by the time of my return to Hong Kong, the campus had been totally transformed. The facilities are now more comprehensive and modern, and I have given many impressed visitors guided tours of the new campus with great pride. I have spent over three decades since my return to Hong Kong working with students engaged in the sport of fencing at the school, and I have gotten to know about the new school a great deal more than the old stately campus. There had been profound changes over the years in the physical state of the schools, but what is clear to us Old Boys is that the La Salle spirit lives on in a timeless way. It was part of us when we attended school, and it never leaves us. It actually stays with us for life. That sense of brotherhood. That sense of service. And that sense of dedication. I shall forever be proud of this cherished tradition.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear old boys,

Greetings from the College.

I recently attended two events held by the OBA. The first one was a charity film show organized for families who are financially challenged. The families were mainly from Wong Tai Sin. The Chairman of the Wong Tai Sin District Council gave the function support by attending the event. Of course, the families were especially happy to see our old boy Mr Sammy Leung (森美). He was there because he was the voice of one of the main characters and he felt that the event was meaningful.

The cinema was full of laughter from the young viewers. It was a special event because the OBA finds it important to give back to society which reflects that boys of La Salle have learnt the spirit of serving others. Be it a sponsorship of a cartoon for families who do not normally take their children to cinemas to offering financial help to needy students, the OBA has fully shown their mission of continuing the good work of the Brothers—serving people in need. I was very honoured to be invited to watch the movie and share the joy with the youngsters in the cinema.

The second event I attended was the Old Boys' Percussion Concert held on Saturday, 28th April 2018. What struck me most was the passion shown by the old boy musicians that night. It was just the percussion section of a symphony Orchestra but the old boys (and current students) greatly enjoyed playing the instruments. Different percussion instruments mixed and matched well. I can say that I had not expected the old boys to be so skillful in playing the instruments amidst a heavy workload during the day time. They must have used most of their spare time to prepare for the performance. It showed clearly their passion and love of music. I admire these old boys because they really love what they have learnt at school and keep it as their lifelong interest.

The Movie Viewing Charity Event

This is a good example of successful learning of which La Salle College has helped to foster.

The OBA provides a good platform for old boys to interact, to help others and to share the joy and happiness of being together. This is amazing and I hope this spirit will continue to flourish.

Thank you.

Who am I?

By Philip Chan (陳欣健) - Ex-Police Superintendent of the Royal Hong Kong Police, Managing Director of Capital Artist Entertainment, Managing Director of Metro Broadcast, Singer, Show Host, Film Actor, Director, Producer and Screen playwright.

The dream is the same every time. I would float along the empty corridors of the majestic Roman Catholic building. Resonance of morning prayers could be heard in the air. I would turn a corner and there would be the vacant assembly hall where several majestic granite pillars held up the roof, helping me remember that classic scene in “Samson and Delilah” when Samson, played by Victor Mature, regained his strength and pulled down the entire temple with the chain bound to his body and two pillars! The Assembly Hall was where we would congregate each morning to start the day with a briefing from Brother Director. Then faded portraits of Brothers in their white or black robes, the teachers and the indistinguishable faces of school-mates would appear and disappear as in a slide show. There would be a jolt and I would open my eyes, with a slight pain in my heart and tears swelling in my eyes. Then I would come to realize that, once again, I have dreamt of my mother school La Salle, this beautiful school which had shaped and defined my life. How I never ceased missing it all through my life.

The older I get, as might be the same with some of you old boys, the more I would reminisce and wonder why La Salle had such an impact on our lives. In my case it is obviously simple: it has transformed a boy from a poor family, confused and inhibited by an inferiority complex which was further complicated by an Attention Deficit and Hyperactivity Disorder (a sickness quite unheard of back in the sixties) into a man of confidence bearing the courage to face any challenge, thereby forever changing his life and his destiny.

Born in 1945 in a family of five siblings as one of Hong Kong’s BOOM BABIES, my parents had to scramble for food, clothing and their children’s education. Having gone through an all-Chinese education from Primary one to five, I was transferred to Good Hope Anglo-Chinese School where I faced the unspeakable intimation of having to learn an all new language. I repeated a year in order to catch up but my English moved on slowly. My Maths was even worse. After two years of total redness on my blue report card and ridicules from teachers and classmates I was told that the school would stop taking boys to become an all-girls school. We were told to apply for other Catholic schools, without any reference or recommendation. I can still remember my mother, in her thirties, taking me by my hand to apply for Primary Five in Saint Francis Xavier School in Shum Shui Po, Tak Shun in Tsim Sha Tsui, Kowloon Wah Yan in Waterloo Road, Hong Kong Wah Yan in Wanchai and finally La Salle in Perth Street. It was a long, hot summer and I can still feel the sweat in my palms. Partly caused by the afternoon heat but mostly out of fear of the unknown that lies ahead. I still have no idea how my mother managed to source and identify these outstanding Catholic schools but, after failing in all the schools, I miraculously passed for Primary Five of La Salle Primary, marking the turning point in my life.

Winning the honor at the London Police Training College (1971)

The inferiority complex in my early teens was partly caused by the dire status in my family and the consistent poor marks in my studies. The Chinese Primary in which I studied was full of verbal mockeries and physical chastising. I have received so much abuse that, by Primary five, I have become a quiet introvert. I was difficult to communicate with and always living in a world of my own. One remark from my teacher to my mother was: “Madame, your son is not human””. In the meantime I was crouching outside in the corridor playing with my small, rusty harmonica. When I transferred to Good Hope it was slightly better but the challenge of English and Mathematics did nothing to improve my personal self-esteem.

The most vivid impact on my first day at La Salle Primary was the absence of girls. After eight years in co-education institutes for the first time my eyes were filled with creatures with almost identical looks and gait as myself. There was also a strange presence of foreign kids from strange countries. Then there was the short, friendly bespectacled face of Brother Henry and the teachers who were busily trying to put these noisy little boys into the right places. Once school started, I immediately made my first bunch of good friends. And some of them would remain my close friends up to this day.

It was in Primary Six when I was incepted into my first stage experience. At a Christmas play I was given the part of a Roman soldier patrolling the stage when the curtain rose. I had no dialog and was told to look grim and authoritative. As the curtain rose my heart pounded. I held my spear and tried to put on the straightest “acting face” as I paced across the stage. But I instantly lost my concentration when the audience started pointing and giggling at the short Roman soldier skirt I was wearing. Ever since that day I have turned down any role that required me to be in drags.

Come Form One. Apart from making even more friends I discovered a passion for drawing. I have always drawn sketches since I was a huge fan of Mad Magazine, Dell Comic Books and all those Cantonese kung fu movies. Since drawing paper and even exercise books was a luxury I could only draw in my text books. My fighting heroes and villains occupied every available space in all the pages until the text book could neither be handed down to my younger brothers nor sold to the used book stalls in Mongkok. This really upset my mother. But once I joined the Arts class I took up oil painting, and my text books became clean and recyclable again. Before long I was incepted into the school choir. Our music teacher, Mr. Leung Ngok Yum (梁樂音), was already a celebrity in popular music with a series of hits written and composed by him. This included 《賣糖歌》、《博愛歌》、《梅花》和《月兒彎彎照九州》. I was flabbergasted to find in the choir our idol from Form Five James Wong (黃湛森 also known as 黃霑). Amongst the boys there were two idols: Bruce Lee and James Wong. Bruce was famous for his fighting skills but James gained our worship because, apart from being an outstanding athlete and playing a fantastic harmonica, rumor had it that he invented the longest string of Cantonese swearing in the world.

On the right as 太子哲 in the school play 武則天

My days in the school choir did not last long though. During a “Talk of Hands” (講手) which is a popular tradition in Chinese Kung Fu for two persons to enter into a challenge of free style fighting without weapons, I fought with a school-mate, fell on a wooden log and punctured my nose. Afraid to alarm my parents and having no money to see a doctor I remembered an old Western movie in which an Indian applied tobacco to arrow wounds. So I went home, took out my Dad’s tobacco and applied them on the wound. The bleeding did stop but it left me with a case of serious inflammation and my voice became very coarse and nasal. During the rehearsal for the inter-school singing competition we were singing Santa Lucia in a three part harmony. Mr. Leung pricked up his ears and, with a frown, he stopped our singing. “Someone here is singing with a heavy nasal way. This does not harmonize with our style. Now who is this person?” He glanced at us with the eyes of an eagle and I instantly put on the innocent look of an Angel to exhibit my innocence. Almost immediately he pointed to one of the boys in the front row and ordered: “Alright, now I want each one of you to step forward and sing a couple of lines” Seeing that doomsday was impending I had no option except to raise my arm in sweet surrender. I was kicked out of the choir instantly and the Choir went on to win the Championship in the competition.

But this is not the end of my musical journey. My classmate spotted my singing ability and asked if I was interested for an audition. Trying to put behind my disappointment from being excluded from the choir I answered yes. I arrived at his apartment where several school mates and a Wah Yan Boy had assembled in full musical gear. This is a pop group with two guitarists, an electric bassist and a drummer. As the result of that audition I became their lead singer. The band was named the Astro-notes – a pun taken from the word Astronauts which was first introduced to us with the space adventures of that era. The group played in the afternoon of weekends at the Astor Hotel and later the Bayside Night Club in Chung King Mansion. My stage experience from school plays which ranged from 文天祥 to 岳飛, from Sherlock Holmes to Passion Play, coupled with my choir training, all contributed to my performance ability and stage technique. We became very popular and, before we knew it, we were making enough money so that I was able to pay for my school fees, daily spending and entertainment. On the stage I crooned and rocked to an exciting dance audience. No longer was I the shy, introvert kid with no sense of direction in life. Music demanded discipline and somehow that discipline influenced my attitude towards learning. I became very interested in the knowledge from my books, the teachers and the classroom atmosphere. All in all I become a better student. More time was devoted to academic studies and my marks flew like a hot balloon. In Form Four I was elected Class Prefect and in Form Five I became the Vice Head Prefect, with Jack So (蘇澤光) being Head Prefect. This honorable status was something I had never dreamt of and I served my office with dignity, fairness and devotion. My training in boxing and Wing Chun also empowered me to sometimes exercise my authority to protect the weak from bullying.

Such was the impact that those years from La Salle Primary to La Salle Secondary had on me. Back in the sixties Hong Kong did not chart the achievements of the schools and there was not so much trumpeting of which were the best schools. Amongst the students there was no vanity or any sense of superiority over the other schools. But in La Salle there was a strong sense of solidarity and identity to unite together and face the odds and strive to overcome, and be even better. There was no class distinction or cultural bias. My best friends included British, Portuguese and Indian school-mates. When I did not have a nice jacket or a pair of boots to attend parties my school mates would let me use theirs. Extracurricular activities helped develop our hidden talents. The school provided us with the leverage to develop our self esteem, confidence and passion for knowledge. In our hearts there is no such thing as defeat. Any set back only means that we have other strength waiting to be discovered and developed.

As Detective Chief Inspector being interviewed during Hong Kong's first armed bank robbery as Po Seng Bank, Mongkok (1974)

I suspect the school song has a lot to do with the virtues which La Salle boys hold so naturally even long after they leave the school. Apart from the beautiful tune, the lyrics convey the motto, the principle and the honor which all La Salle boys practice with reverence. These virtues have bond unique and united generations of La Salle boys together, sharing one common belief, which is that no matter if you are a super businessman or an outstanding professional, whether you are rich or poor, you are never alone. For in the spirit of La Salle we can overcome any challenge and brave any storm. The spiritual and physical support of our Reverent Brothers, our teachers, our peers and our fellow La Salle comrade-in-arms will always be there to support us and cheer us on. Once a La Salle boy forever a La Salle Hero and, as that famous line goes : “La Salle is something more”. Yes, we are definitely something more!

Dear old boys,

Time flies! La Salle Primary School has already held eight Diamond Jubilee events this year. Thank you to the support of old boys, parents and students, we have received positive feedback from different parties.

The Diamond Jubilee Musical was finally staged from 19th to 21st April, 2018 (Thursday to Saturday) after more than two months' postponement. Around 400 students and I performed the Musical "Ali Baba and the Bongo Bandits". It has been such a memorable experience for the whole school.

STAKEHOLDER'S NEWS: MESSAGE FROM MR ALEX TSUI, PRESIDENT, STUDENT ASSOCIATION, LA SALLE COLLEGE

On behalf of the Student Association, I would like, first of all, to express my most sincere gratitude to the Old Boys' Association for supporting and guiding us selflessly throughout the year. It has been such a fruitful year for the 43rd term of the Student Association. As per our tradition, we have organized a series of activities for our fellow Lasallians and teachers, and we have definitely learnt a lot through these events.

Every year, the Student Association holds the Talent Quest for Lasallians to showcase their talents and shine on the stage. This year, we chose "Rêve de météore", meaning "Meteor dream" or "Big dream", as the theme of the event, since we believe that the Talent Quest provides an opportunity for Lasallians to pursue their dreams.

We also invited the famous band "Rubber Band" to perform in the show. It undoubtedly brought the event to a climax.

Besides, the annual Christmas Ball "Trouvaille" is one of the most desired events of the year, as Lasallian students hope for a perfect night with their friends or their loved ones, or just simply have an unforgettable night with their beloved. The sparkling, shimmering chandelier hung on the roof, accompanied by the beautiful music, created a peaceful atmosphere and provided a wonderful opportunity for Lasallians to relax in the Christmas holidays and share an enduring moment with their loved ones.

In addition, the Student Association applied for a Chinese New Year flower market stall in the Victoria Park. Lasallians of all forms joined together and everyone had different roles, from accounting to promoting the stall, so as to make this event a success, making a profit of more than $100,000. All profit was donated to the NGO Against Child Abuse. We hereby would like to thank the OBA again for her altruistic support.

The Student Association strives to build up a strong relationship of every Lasallian to the school, and to increase the bonding of students through various events hosted. There have been difficult circumstances, but under the enthusiastic and the passionate hearts of every member, the Student Association is determined to improve the quality of services provided, and strive to be the best La Salle can be.

PAST PRESIDENTS' DINNER 2018

The Past Presidents' Dinner is one of the most important events during the term where the current Committee will have the opportunity to meet most past presidents of LSCOBA on a single occasion. This year, our guests Br Chris and Mrs Rakesh, LSPS Principal, shared with us the update of Brothers' movement and the School's Diamond Jubilee Campaign. PP Nicholas Ng, Alternate Supervisor of LSC, briefly updated the future development plan of the College. After dinner, we all shared the special moments of taking group pictures and singing school song together. My special thanks to Past President Lester Huang for booking the nice venue for the event.

Roger Lee (1985)

The College is pleased to announce that the 2018 Lasallian Forum was held successfully on 7th May. The Guest Speaker was Mr Jack So, class of 1964, and currently Chairman of the Airport Authority.

Mr So shared his thoughts on ‘How Lasallian education has shaped his career’. In a brief recount of his work life, Mr So emphasized that it was the liberal attitude of the Brothers towards education that inspired him to be a boy of courage and a boy of daring. To succeed, it is vital to keep stepping outside of one’s own comfort zone and venture into the unknown. Look not to the results but to the process, which will bring the joy and happiness of work. There was a lively interaction between the floor and Mr So after the panel discussion. Mr So and the Student Association Executive Committee members exchanged ideas on different issues ranging from the skills and prerequisites of young people for success in studies and work to prospects in 21st Century Mainland China.

The College would like to thank Mr So for coming back to share with the students, and the Student Association for organizing the event.

HERITAGE SUBCOMMITTEE : LA SALLE PRIMARY SCHOOL - GRAVE SWEEPING FOR DECEASED LA SALLE BROTHERS ON 10 AND 11 APRIL 2018

As with previous few years, La Salle Primary School and the LSPS Parent Teacher Association invited the Heritage Subcommittee to offer a brief talk for LSPS students at the Brothers’ mausoleum at St Michael’s Catholic Cemetery in Happy Valley close to the Chinese Ching Ming Festival. This year was the second year when all P6 boys joined this service, which were held over two mornings, 10 and 11 April, 3 classes per day. The old boys shared the Hong Kong Lasallian Brothers’ story since their arrival in 1875, leading up to 1957 when LSPS was founded by Br. Henry Pang. Afterwards, the boys prayed for the souls of the deceased Brothers, and paid their respects at the graves of the Brothers.

ANNUAL BALL 2017: VIVA LA SALLE

The LSCOPA Annual Ball 2017 was held on 16th December, 2017 at Hong Kong Convention and Exhibition Center and we were delighted to have Dr. Joseph Lee, our OBA Past President (1994-97), and the founder of Wofoo Social Enterprises as our Guest of Honour. Dr. Joseph Lee is truly a role model for Lasallian as his support towards his Alma Mater has never ceased even after serving his presidency of the Old Boys' Association some 20 years ago.

The theme of the Ball this year is "Viva La Salle: 85 Years of Excellence." Over 200 members and guest attended the ball to pay tribute to the La Salle Brothers for their life long dedication and service to Lasallian education. The Association also took the opportunity to celebrate the 85th anniversary of La Salle College and the Diamond Jubilee of La Salle Primary School by having a toast with Mr. WS Tong, LSC Principal and Mrs. Rakesh, LSPS Principal.

Apart from the formalities, it was an enjoyable night with entertainment programs such as old boys live band, magic performance, guest singers and dance show where old boys were also busy mingling around and taking selfies with friends.

The LSCOPA would like to once again thank our sponsors and guests for their generous patronage and participation. The success of the LSCOPA Annual Ball 2017: Viva La Salle would not have been possible without their contribution and support.

SPRING DINNER 2018

The Spring Dinner has always been a popular old boys' event; and this year was no exception. The Year of the Dog Spring Dinner was held on 9 March 2018 at Tung Yuen Banquet, Wan Chai. (東園酒家宴會廳)

Immediately after the Interscholar Athletics Meet, more than 100 old boys joined the happy hour mingling with beer and wine in hand at the restaurant. This arrangement proved to be very much welcomed and if you missed it, do join early next year!

With the support of the old boys, we had full house more than 50 tables at that night. More than 600 old boys joined the dinner and enjoyed the great fun, together with past and present teachers and also students from the athletics teams and other sports teams and supporting functions (all being guests of the OBA). Some highlights of the night included the personal sharing by our La Salle athletes on stage, beer competition, lucky draw and performance by Wong Kin Tung, Derek (98).

We may not have served the best wine or food for the night, but the event had the greatest atmosphere in the OBA calendar.

We would also like to extend our warmest gratitude to our respected sponsors including Kwong Cheong Lung, Telford, Telecom Digital, and our devoted old boy sponsors including Mr. Stanley Shum (79), Mr. Roger Lee (85), Mr. Sunny Cheung (85), Mr. Robert Lui (95) and Mr. Yick Ping Fai (96) for their continued support.

Without Lasalle, I won't be who I am (From LPS to LSC)

The Architectural Professional Network started off with a Facebook group called "LSCOBA Architects" initiated by Dr. Gordon Fong '76 on 16 November 2014 when I (Albert Ng '78) was the first member added by Gordon. Then after, we have been trying very hard to find out which old boys are architects and inviting them to join the Group. The effort was not that successful in 2015 as it seemed at the beginning when we could only get in contact with about 10 old boys who are practicing architects in 2015.

This came to a better pace when we met a younger generation old boy architect, Shuyan Chan '99 at the LSCOBA Spring Dinner in March 2016. Shuyan came back to Hong Kong and started working here after 3 years of working in Shanghai. Through his and others' connection, we started to grow steadily in 2016 and 2017 when getting in contact with younger generation architects, graduates (architects to be) and architecture students (future architects) studying architecture in both local and overseas universities. We now have more than 40 members in the Network, both residing in Hong Kong and at overseas. We have also created a Whatsapp group in 2017 in the same name "LSCOBA Architects" for quicker relay of messages.

Apart from fostering brotherhood among fellow old boy architects and architecture students, one of the main aims of the Network is maintain a tighter bond between the old boys and our Alma Mater. School events and LSCOBA activities are being channeled through the Facebook and Whatsapp Groups to old boys in the Network.

On 15 March 2018, The Architectural Network had our first ever drinks gathering at The Murray, a newly completed conservation project of the previous government building, Murray House at Central, nicely designed by Foster and Partners where our old boys Michael Ng '78 and Lawrence Wong '97 are working. Around 30 old boys architects attended the gathering with our most senior old boy architect, Mr Pau Shiu Hung '60 (retired Director of Architectural Services Department, Govt of HKSAR) and Mrs Pau (our retired LSPS Principal) have kindly joined us. Another imminent Hong Kong architect, William Lim '75 of CL3 and our LSCOBA President, Roger Lee '85 also attended the gathering. The old boy architects chatted joyfully with Mr and Mrs Pau and also exchanged among themselves in a relaxed way after work in this beautifully designed and fitted-out hotel, The Murray. Nonetheless, this was the First Reunion of fellow old boy architects in Hong Kong, but before then we could never imagine there are so many practicing architects in Hong Kong are coming from LSC.

OLD BOYS' PERCUSSION CONCERT 2018

The first ever Old Boys' Percussion Concert "Viva Drummers" was held successfully on 28 April 2018 at Sheung Wan Civic Centre by the Music Board, LSCOPA. More than 350 guests, including LSC Principal Mr. Tong and LSPS Principal Mrs. Rakesh, were moved by the rhythmic performance from 17 energetic old boys and student performers. Lively music, with a showcase of Chinese and Western style drums, xylophones, cymbals or gongs, lifted everyone's spirit in the concert hall. The audience was indulged into the visual sensation of The Ox Fighting The Tiger and the familiar melody of Carmen Suite No. 1. The 2-hour concert ended on a high note with all guests and performers singing the newly-arranged percussion version of our school song.

THE MEDICAL PROFESSIONAL NETWORK

For the 3rd consecutive year, the LSCOBA Doctors of La Salle soccer team contested in the Hong Kong Medical Association Soccer Tournament held at the University of Hong Kong on 25th March 2018. We have maintained the tradition of having two 7- a side teams, led by Dr. Ip Kin Sing (1984) and Dr. Brian Ho (1973). This year, we have once again attained new achievement. With the influence of Dr. Ip's determination and athleticism, one of our teams progressed to the knockout stage. Although unfortunately our defenders were injured during the semi-finals, we finally attained 4th position in the tournament. Nevertheless, we all had a great time filled with Lasallian spirit. Let's look forward to winning next year!
